

Base Words and Inflectional Endings

Directions

- Review inflectional endings using the table below. An inflectional ending is a word part that is added to the end of a base word that changes the number or tense of a base word. A base word can stand alone and has meaning (for example, cat, bench, eat, walk). Inflectional endings include -s, -es, -ing, -ed.
 - The inflectional endings -s and -es change a noun from singular (one) to plural (more than one): cat/cats, bench/benches.
 - The inflectional endings -ing and -ed change the tense of a verb: eat/eating, walk/walked.

Inflectional Ending	Use	Example
-s	To make a word plural (more than one).	cats, letters, fingers
-es	To make a word plural when the word ends in ch , sh , ss , or x .	benches, dishes, classes, boxes
-ing	To say something that is currently happening. NOTE: If the word ends in silent e , drop the e and add -ing . Give changes to giving. The e was dropped and then -ing was added.	I am eating lunch. She is drawing. We are raking the leaves. He is baking cookies.
-ed	To make a word past tense (say something that already happened).	She closed the door. He walked to the store.

- Cut out the word cards, shuffle, and place face down in a stack.
- Provide your child with the activity sheet.
- Ask your child to select a word card from the stack and read the word. Help your child blend the sounds together if needed.
- Ask your child to:
 - Write the word in the Word column of the activity sheet.
