- Mom points to the words as she reads them to encourage her son to pay attention to the print, not just the pictures.
- Mom asks questions and restates her son's answers in complete sentences: "It's blowing the umbrella away."
- Mom reads some words incorrectly on purpose to show her son how to think about what he is reading and correct his mistake: "I wished them off" was changed to "I washed them off."

Let's review the Family Resource Books to Share, a list of suggested books that your child may be able to read to you with your help. Add appropriate books that families can borrow from your classroom library, the school library, the public library, or any other appropriate source.
